DETAILED ACTION
Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-5 and 16-18, drawn to, "an apparatus and method for receiving and copying images to storage", classified in class 348, subclass 207.1.
- II. Claims 6-10, 19-21, 27-29 and 30-32, drawn to an apparatus and method associated with receiving, storing and generating thumbnails for copying, wherein thumbnails of a predetermined size are copied, wherein when not, generate thumbnails of the predetermined and then copy, classified in class 348, subclass 333.11.

Art Unit: 2615

are displayed, wherein when not, generate thumbnails of the predetermined and then display, classified in class 348, subclass 333.11.

2. Inventions I and II-IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because.

The subcombinations II, III and IV has separate utility such as for performing image copying of images of a predetermined size, when not process to the predetermined size, which do not require the details of group I.

In the instant case, invention II & III has separate utility such as generating and storing thumbnails of a predetermined size and copying.

In the instant case, invention IV has separate utility such as generating and storing thumbnails of a predetermined size and displaying.

Art Unit: 2615

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
